"The Status of the Legislature."

An article under the above head, appears in the Standard of Wednesday, which somewhat differs in its style and manner from the ordinary editorials of that paper, and which we take to have been dictated by the Governor himself, and it therefore demands respectful consideration. The Standard says:

Until our members are admitted into Congress, the State declared in full union with the government, there is no civil government in operation. The Provisional officers will continue to exercise the duties of their positions, and consequently we will still be under the Provisional administration. When our members are admitted into Congress and the State has resumed all her natural relations in the Union, then the Provisional Legislature will either be made a part of the new civil government or provision made for the election of a new civil legislature.

It will be remembered that the article was written since Dr. Powell's arrival, with the latest intructions of the President, and therefore must be regarded as semi official.

President Johnson has emphatically assumed, and his plan of reconstruction has been based upon it, that the Southern States were never out of the Union—that the attempt to take them out was a failure, and that by consequence, all that is necessary to be done in order to their reinstatement into the confidence of the government, is their compliance with the terms of surrender prescribed by the President. These views meet our full acquiescence and approval. The impression however, has hitherto prevailed in the South, that this being done by the States, the President would declare by proclamation their full restoration. But it appears by the foregoing, that the President will delay his proclamation and consequently continue the Provisional government, "until our members are admitted into Congress." If this be so, when does the Standard think that that will be done? We have no idea that the next Congress will admit our members, whether they can take the oath or not. Indeed, until the President issues his proclamation declaring the States restored or rehabilitated, our members will lack the moral force of the President, to allow them even a hearing at all. Every person knows, what the Standard suggests, that until the Provisional government is at an end, that the Judges and officers of the State elected by the Legislature will not be permitted to exercise their functions.

There is no good to result from discussing this subject, or the raising of such special points as this by the Sentinel, "that certain acts may be done by Provisional Legislatures and Conventions under stress of circumstances to be disturbed by the people under the plea that they were only provisional and therefore temporary." In the language of Wade Hampton, we say to the Sentinel, the passage of such acts are parts of the terms of the surrender, never to be disturbed except by a violation of an oath honor! When we charged upon the Sentinel that an attempt would be made by its friends and followers, to reconsider the ordinance repudiating the war debt, it solemnly denied the charge. But now it openly hints that such a thing may be done.—Yes, it may be attempted, the whole of the acts of the Convention may be assailed because they were enacted under stress of circumstances, &c, but it will be in violation of terms laid down by the President and accepted by us.—Standard.

When we penned our article of enquiry into the real status of the State, as to the character of its Convention and Legislature, our design was in good faith to ascertain their character, as a rule of action for those bodies, and to suggest those difficulties which might arise, in the event it should be determined they were simply provisional, under the rule of politicians and demagogues. The Standard knew that we had endorsed most heartily the principle inculcated by Gen. Wade Hampton, and that Mr. Worth had also emphatically endorsed it, in advance of Gen. Hampton's declaration, but it never had the courtesy or honesty to acknowledge it. Our remark contains no allusion, not the slightest, that we would, or that Mr. Worth and his friends would, under any circumstances, countenance the slightest departure from the terms of surrender accepted by us. We belong, and Mr. Worth belongs to that class of persons in North Carolina who never back down from our positions, who, if we "swear to our own hurt change not." The Standard represents the changelings, the men who blow hot and then blow cold, just as it suits them—the political weathercocks of the State, who serve the people or serve the government, as Lorenzo Dow once said, some men serve their Lord and Master, "for the five loaves and the two fishes." What we accept from the government as the terms of our surrender, we assent to it now and forever.

The Governor's Message.

This paper will be found to-day in the proceedings of the Legislature. It is a brief, well-written document and to the point. It will be read with interest. We have neither time nor space to consider its contents.

Falsehoods of the Standard.

We can poorly spare the time, and we certainly have no inclination, to devote ourself to the notice of the contemptible falsehoods of the Standard. It has already done mischief enough in libelling our people, outraging the feelings of our citizens, and originating discord and division which exists among us. We assert what we honestly believe, that if the Standard had been conducted in the true spirit of a North Carolina journal, devoted to the Union, we should have had no discord, however much our people might have differed with the course which Gov. Holden felt it his duty to take. Boys and inexperienced men, are not the persons to manage a newspaper in times of this sort. If the proprietor had been at the helm or some one of experience and sober judgment, we doubt if any thing would have occurred to mar the general quiet of our people in regard to politics. We regret therefore the necessity for so frequent a reference to the shameless falsehoods of that paper, especially when it refers to the Sentinel. Notice the following:

This is the same paper that spoke of the "humiliation" to which the Convention was subjected when that body was informed by President Johnson that it was indispensible that the rebel debt should be repudiated.—Standard.

We have before explained in what sense we have used the term "humiliation." It had no reference whatever to the requisition of the government to repudiate the rebel debt—but to the peculiar circumstances under which it was done.

The Sentinel is a bitter and deadly foe to the President. Its professions of regard for him are hypocritical. The Sentinel is a "wolf in sheep's clothing." It would rejoice to see Andrew Johnson voted down; and it would rejoice with exceeding joy to see such men as Z. B. Vance and Jefferson Davis in full possession of power in all these Southern States.—Standard.

The Standard simply lies, and knows that it lies, in every one of the above assertions.

This paper, established under suspicious circumstances, has fast degenerated into a virulent, copperhead sheet. Professing friendship for Gov. Holden, it began to assail him insidiously. Hypocritically praising the President, it opposed his policy, advocated the assumption of the war debt, fomented disaffection and was the prime mover in getting up opposition in the late election, the result of which the President himself has pronounced most detrimental to the State.—Standard.

Here again we are forced to give the lie direct, to every statement in the above. The Sentinel was established alone by the editor as his only prospect of support for his family at the time.—No other human being had any thing to do with its establishment. We rented material and went to work without patronage or support from any one. We supported Gov. Holden as long as we could do so conscientiously, and this our friends know, and the Standard knows it. We have never assailed Gov. Holden nor shall the course of the Standard provoke us to do it. We have opposed him simply and entirely upon political grounds, and have never said any thing insidiously, but openly and frankly. We have been sincere in our support of the President, and that we have done upon principle, and with no hope of fee or reward.

In the same article it assails us for asking if Mr. Phillips' statements are not true? Mr. Phillips had said, that North Carolina had been treated differently from other States. So far as the facts have been made public, they sustain Mr. Phillips. In no other State that we know of, have the magistrates, the Railroads, the Banks, the Judges or the applicants for pardon, been treated as in North Carolina. The people of North Carolina and we are of that number, were led to believe that that could not be the President's policy, judging from his proclamation, his speeches and declarations in regard to the States generally.

We have never attached bad motive or infidelity to the government to Gov. Holden. We think the President is right in sustaining the authority of Gov. Holden, and as far as we are able, we will do it. As to Gov. Holden's intentions and purposes we have never called them in question. The wisdom, the propriety and good effect of his measures, only, have we called in question.

The Standard advises us that the President is fully informed of the animus of the Sentinel and its followers. Will the Standard dare say, that, the President has been correctly informed. We have reason to believe, that those in the State who do not approve of Gov. Holden as a proper man for Civil Governor, has been grossly slandered to the President. The Sentinel has been slandered and lied upon almost daily by the Standard. Mr. Worth and his friends have been basely slandered—Gov. Graham and Gov. Vance and J. Turner and every other man known to have been opposed to the Standard, have been slandered. If the President knew the truth and the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, we should be content. We have no concealments. We are ready to be judged by the President and the world of mankind and God our Judge and Lord, by what we have thought, by what we have said, and by what we have written, and we are willing that the truth and the whole truth should be known by the whole nation.

Supreme Court Judges.

The election for Supreme Court Judges in the Legislature, came off on yesterday. Chief Justice Pearson, Judge Battle and Judge Reade, were elected. There were strong reasons of courtesy, propriety and right, which led us to desire the re-election of the entire old Bench. We therefore regret the defeat of Judge Manly. We have differed with him in some particulars politically, and we could not endorse all his judicial decisions, but we have known him for years, and his high moral character, his gentlemanly demeanor, his consistency and independence as a Judge, the rigid purity of the man, and his simplicity and singleness of purpose, together with the circumstances of the case, combined to make us strongly desire his re-election. Yet we are free to say, that as Judge Manly was not the choice of the Legislature, we know few if any in the State, who will better fill his place than Judge Reade. Judge Reade by nature, training, and his moral and mental constitution, is well fitted for the Judgeship, and his future will adorn the Bench.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

THURSDAY, November 30th.

The House was called to order at 10 o'clock A. M.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Byrd of the Presbyterian Church.

Journal of yestesday was read and approved.

The resolution to send a message to the Senate proposing to raise a joint committee to prepare joint rules of order, was taken up and passed.

The House branch of this committee consists of Messrs. Waugh, Jenkins of Warren, Henry, Baxter and Wilson.

Mr Russell introduced the following resolutions:

"WHEREAS, There are numerous indications that a large portion of the people of the Northern States of this Union have been led to believe that the people of North Carolina are not well disposed towards them and towards the General Government; and whereas, it appears from a telegram from His Excellency, the President of the United States, to the Provisional Governor of this State, published in the Standard newspaper of the 29th inst., that His Excellency has been misinformed as to the views and sentiments of the people of North Carolina, and especially as regards the issues involved in the late election of this State; and whereas, it is right and proper that this General Assembly should correct, as far as may be in its power, such erroneous impressions, and vindicate the character of the State, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the people of North Carolina have accepted the terms offered them by the President of the United States, and complied with all the conditions laid down by him as necessary to restore our practical constitutional relations with the other States of this Union, and that they have done so in good faith, and with the intention and determination to preserve and maintain them.

Resolved, That the people of North Carolina are loyal to the Government of the United States, and are ready to make any concessions not inconsistent with their honor and safety for the restoration of that harmony upon which their prosperity and security depends.

Resolved, That we have confidence in the ability, integrity and impartiality of Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, and that in behalf of the people of North Carolina, we hereby return our thanks to him for the kindness, liberality and magnanimity which he has displayed towards us.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to His Excellency, the President of the United States, and to the Congress when it shall assemble.

Mr. Jenkins of Warren, moved a suspension of the rules, and urged the immediate, unanimous adoption of the resolutions. He believed they expressed the sentiments of the body of the people in North Carolina, and would disabuse the mind of the President of injurious impressions he had received relative to public sentiment in the State.

Mr. Henry deprecated hasty action on resolutions of such moment, and moved that they lie on the table.

Mr. Blackmer, moved to amend by referring the resolutions to a select committee.

Mr. Henry accepted the proposed amendment and his motion thus modified prevailed—Ayes 54—Noes 47.

The committee appointed consists of Messrs. Blackmer, Henry, Russell, Jenkins of Warren, and Cameron.

The House concurred in a Message from the Senate proposing to elect forthwith an additional Engrossing Clerk.

The names of Messrs. Jas. A. Moore and Chas. M. Busbee of Wake were withdrawn from nomination.

On this ballot 158 votes were cast. Necessary to a choice 79. Mr. Jno. A. Hampton received 101 votes and was declared elected.

Hon. W. N. H. Smith, representative from Hertford, appeared and was qualified.

At 12 o'clock M. the message of His Excellency, the Provisional Governor was received and read as follows:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Raleigh, Nov 30, 1865.

Gentlemen of the Senate and of the House of Commons:

I regret that a severe and painful illness, from which I am still suffering, has prevented me from preparing for your consideration, a more full and detailed statement of the condition of public affairs, and of the progress which has been made in restoring North Carolina to her natural position as a member of the Union under the Federal Constitution. I am gratified to state, however, that my health is improving, and I hope soon to be in a condition to impart to you at length any information in my possession in relation to public affairs, which you may desire.

The progress thus far made in the work of restoration, has been attended by a great labor; and I have been very anxious to discharge my duties as Provisional Governor, under the instructions of the President in such a way as to promote the best interests of the State, and to ensure a restoration of our constitutional relations to the Federal Government at the earliest practicable period.

We can entertain no hope that confidence and activity in business will be revived, or that our people can even begin to renew their former prosperity, until the State shall have been fully restored to her place in the Union. The greatest good of the present and of all coming generations, will be embodied in the practical fact that we are once more a part of the freest, proudest, and most prosperous government in the world. As long as this fact is unrealized, the State must necessarily languish in all its interests, and in end of availing herself of her great natural advantages, and springing forward in competition with other States in the career of wealth and prosperity, she will become more and more impoverished

Let, us, then, omit nothing which may be deemed necessary, or even expedient, to attain the great end we have in view to-wit, the complete restoration of the State in all its constitutional relations to the common government. Let the divisions and differences which exist among us, and which are calculated to obstruct the work of reconstruction, disappear under the influence of a more intense and a more devoted patriotism. He who does anything now, whether by word or act, calculated or intended to embarrass the national administration, or to obstruct the work of restoration, incurs a grave responsibility and can be no friend either to the Federal Union or to North Carolina.

The Convention of the people of this State, recently in session, very wisely ordained,

1st. That the so-called ordinance of secession, adopted the 20th day of May 1861, "is now, and at all times hath been, null and void;" and that "the ordinance of the Convention of the State of North Carolina, ratified on the 21st, day of November, 1789, which adopted and ratified the constitution of the United States and also all acts and parts of acts of the General Assembly, ratifying and adopting amendments to the said Constitution, are now, and at all times since the adoption and ratification thereof have been in full force and effect."

2nd. That "slavery and involuntary servitude, otherwise than for crimes, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall be—is hereby forever prohibited within the State."

3rd. That it shall be the duty of the General Assembly to provide for the payment of all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State or otherwise than in aid of the late rebellion. But that "all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State, in aid of the late rebellion, directly or indirectly, are void, and no General Assembly of this State shall have power to assume or provide for the payment of the same, or any portion thereof."

These are safe and proper steps in the right direction and such as were expected of the representatives of a loyal people.

But in order to remove the last obstacle in the way of restoration, it is indispensable that the Legislature shall ratify the amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting the existence of slavery throughout the United States. I herewith transmit to you a communication on this subject, from Hon. William H. Seward, Secretary of State, and also a certified copy of the joint resolution which has passed Congress on the subject, approved February 1st, 1865.

I beg leave, gentlemen, most respectfully and earnestly to urge on you the propriety of ratifying this amendment unanimously, at the earliest practicable moment. It is the wish of our best friend, the President of the United States, that this shall be done. Such ratification cannot fail to hasten our restoration to the Union, and thus lay anew for us and our children the foundations of permanent prosperity and glory.

Under the provisions of an ordinance passed by the Convention at its late session, I have appointed the Hon. B. F. Moore, the Hon. Richard S. Donnell, and William S. Mason, Esqs. Commissioners to prepare and report to the Legislature a system of laws upon the subject of freedmen, and to designate such laws and parts of laws now in force, as should be repealed, in order to conform the statutes of the State to the ordinance of the Convention abolishing the institution of slavery.

In conclusion, permit me to assure you, gentlemen, of my readiness and anxiety to co operate with you cordially and zealously in every thing which may be calculated to relieve our unfortunate and beloved State from her present depressed and unhappy condition.

With sentiments of high respect, I have the honor to be, &c. W. W. HOLDEN, Provisional Governor.

On motion of Mr. McKay, the message and accompanying documents were transmitted to the Senate, with a proposition to print five copies for each member of the Assembly.

On motion of Mr. Waugh, a message was sent to the Senate proposing that the two Houses go immediately into an election for one United States Senator.

The Senate by Message refused concurrence.

A message was received from the Senate proposing that the two Houses proceed forthwith to elect Judges of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Jenkins of Warren, moved to lay the message on the table, which was not agreed to.—Yeas 38—Nays 56.

The message was then concurred in.

French Tobacco at Richmond.

It is understood that Count de Montholon, the French Minister, has made a formal demand for the restitution of the tobacco recently seized at Richmond by the Treasury Agents, as the property of the late rebel Government, on the ground that the property seized belonged to Auguste Belmont, the New York agent of the French Rothschilds. Count Montholon has also summoned the French Consul at Richmond here to prove that the seizure was made against the protest of that official.

Take my stock altogether, I have one among the largest and most desirable and complete stocks of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods in the City.

Now, allow me to say that I bought my Goods to sell, and they must and shall be sold; but I don't expect to take a piece of poetry in one hand and a full grown humbug in the other and climb up to the clouds and fish out the birds of Paradise and gently bring them down with a placard stuck on their backs "Selling out at Cost! selling out at cost!" No, I deal in no such humbug. I keep no such a class of Goods. I keep no time worn shelf-rubbed, defaced or dusty Goods—dust so thick you can rub it off with a knife. My Goods are all new, and of good styles, and I intend to sell them as low as anybody that bought goods with the expectation of paying for them, and the man that sold the goods to the man that don't intend to pay for them, is a fool—and the man that sells the is a rascal. Now this is plain talk, but 'tis no slip of the tongue. I mean what I say, and say what I mean. I have lived here and sold goods here for twenty years I expect to remain here. I pay my taxes to support Institutions of the City, County and the State. I expect to continue to do so. I respectfully ask my old customers, my old friends and new ones to call and examine my stock. I will deal with you honest and treat you right. If I don't sell you goods as cheap as you can buy the same class of goods elsewhere I don't expect you to buy. Principles the only Safe Guides.

By standing between the mass of the Southern people and the sweeping confiscation ordered by Congress, and eagerly urged by many leading politicians at the North, President Johnson has decided himself to the warmest regards of those whom he has thus protected; and we feel assured that the people of the Southern States are neither unmindful, nor ungrateful for, the favors thus accorded to them, although it is not to be supposed that any one, placed in Mr. Johnson's position, could have failed to interpose more or less energetically to save the nation of which he is the executive head from a course which would have been a stain upon the civilization of the nineteenth century, and entailed upon the country a reproach that would have endured for ages to come. But, making all allowance and deductions, Mr. Johnson does deserve well of the Southern people, and their obligations to him are freely acknowledged; indeed, we are even inclined to believe that too much weight is sometimes attached to them, or at least that gratitude has a tendency to run into subserviency. We have no ascertained political status ourselves, and consequently it may, perhaps, be out of place for us to speak of what is, or ought to be our policy; still, as we have a sort of quasi existence, and are required to hold elections, so-called, at least, it behooves us to examine carefully the principles upon which we act, even within the limited sphere permitted to us. This is a duty we owe to the country, and an obligation imposed upon us by our oaths to support the Constitution of the United States.

We are not acting in accordance with the spirit of that instrument when we consent to accept a man in exchange for a principle—an individual for a policy. If we are called upon to perform any act, we ought to do it according to our best judgment, and most conscientious conviction, and no executive demand—no dictation from any quarter can free us from the responsibility of acts voluntarily done by us, or of opinion voluntarily expressed. We submit to the course of the United States government in all things, but the moral responsibility must rest with the party dictating such course, and such party cannot in fairness shift that responsibility to others by requiring them to become the involuntary agents of saddling the load upon their own shoulders.

What real purpose does it serve for our legislatures or conventions to meet and solemnly enact, as if by their own authority, things that they are told must be done? What principle of the constitution requires men to submit their judgments or their consciences to the dictation of any other men or set of men? What right has North Carolina or South Carolina to purchase her own re-admission to the Union by voting to change the constitution of the United States in a matter affecting others, as well as herself?

We all know that we must submit to what is inevitable, but this does not require us to falsify our own judgment or convictions by testifying approval of that which, in fact, we do not approve. We obey the laws, but do we approve of them all, or would we have voted for them all?

If we would go aright, we must take principle for our guide. It will not do for us to go on saying: 'Do this because Mr. Johnson says so, or don't do that for fear of offending Mr. Johnson. Let your elections hinge, not upon your own choice and judgment, but upon the choice and judgment of somebody else. Go back into the Union, when you do go back, not as living, self-respecting bodies, but as mere tools and sycophants.' We repeat, all this will not do, and yet we fear it is what our people are fast tending to. It was the main argument used in favor of the election of Governor Holden. It is the main element in Southern politics, or the milk-and-water affair that now passes for Southern politics.

We can and must accept for ourselves the results of the war. We can and must suffer the penalties of failure, but we have no right to trade off the rights of the future—the rights of others as well as ourselves, by establishing precedents of subservience that will afford excuses for similar submissions, and, of course, similar stretches of power, in coming years.

We must establish some other standard than the will or opinion of any man or body of men no matter how powerful or commanding their position. We must rear once more the standard of principle, to which acts and measures can be referred with the assurance of obtaining a correct judgment upon their merits. Men change hourly, principles do not. They outlast revolutions and re-appear stronger and fresher than ever, even after conflicts as terrible and as desolating as that from which this country has so recently emerged.

SLEEP AND DEATH.—As men begin to be about fifty years old, especially if of sedentary habits, the feeling on rising in the morning is as if they have not gotten enough sleep, not as much as they used to have, and as if they would like to have more, but cannot get it. They look upon a healthy child sleeping soundly with feelings of envy. But it is curious to observe that there is a bliss to all in the act of going to sleep, a bliss we come cognizant of only when we happen to be aroused just as we are falling into strong sleep; and there are strong physiological reasons to suppose that this taste is a counterpart of the great event that comes to all, the act of dying. In fact, those who have, in rare cases, been brought back to life when on its extremest verge, and in several cases as to those who have been recovered from drowning and other modes of strangulation, or simple smotherings, the expressions have been, on returning to consciousness, "How delicious!"

"Why did you not let me go?"

An eminent man, thus brought back, represented that the last remembered sensations of which he was conscious were as if he were listening to the most ravishing strains of music. Let us all, then, cherish the thought that our approach to the sleep of the grave is the strict counterpart of the approach of sleep, of which some nameless writer has beautifully said:

"It is a delicious moment; the feeling that we are safe, that we shall drop gently to sleep. The good is to come, not past. The limbs have been just tired enough to render the remaining in one position delightful, and the labor of the day is done. A gentle failing of the conceptions comes slowly creeping over us; the spirit of consciousness disengages itself more and more, with slow and hushing degrees, like a fond mother detaching her hand from her sleeping child; the mind seems to have a balmy lid closing over it, like the eye, closing, more closed, closed altogether, and the mysterious spirit of sleep has gone to take its airy rounds."

DIRECT TRADE.—We are informed that the first steamer of a European line is expected here about the middle of next month, to ply between this port and some foreign point, and that an esteemed citizen of this city is to be the agent here of the contemplated line. If this be true it will be the inauguration of a new era in our commerce—and opens opportunely, as our roads and other arms reaching into the interior will be soon completed and in readiness to bring the produce to our harbor. It is said there is a large stock of cotton in Memphis which no doubt will soon find its way to our market by this route. —Norfolk Virginian.

TWO WHITE MEN TO BE EXECUTED FOR THE MURDER OF A NEGRO WOMAN.—Chistopher C. Rease and John M. Brown, two white men, have been tried by military commission and found guilty of killing Matilda West, a colored woman, in Taliaferro county Ga., and sentenced to be hung. President Johnson has approved the sentence and ordered the execution to proceed. They will be hung on the first Friday in January.

The President's Position and Views as to Reconstruction.

Hon. A. K. McM'Clure, a prominent and influential politician of Pennsylvania, sends to the Franklin, Pa., Repository, of which he is editor, a sketch of an hour's interview with President Johnson. In the first part of it he has mixed up the remarks of the President with his own views. As the opinion of the former only are of interest or value, we cull them out.

During the conversation the President had no reserve as to the policy he conceived to be the true one to bring back the Southern States. He held that they were never out of the Union; that secession, however, accomplished as a fact, cannot be accomplished in law; that the supreme authority of the government in those States was not overthrown by the war, but simply in abeyance, and that since the war has ceased, the States resume their proper place in the Union, and restoration is accomplished.

In discussing the punishment of the Southern leaders in the war, the President said "the measure of and the time for atonement were yet for the future to determine." He also declared with emphasis "that the South must come back and be a part of us, and," he added, "it must come with all its manhood. I don't want it to come eviscerated of its manhood."

The balance of the interview we give in Mr. M'Clure's own words:

In reply to a remark that those "who conspired to overthrow the Federal Government should be strangers to its honors and citizenship," the President said that such may be the measure of punishment, that he had pardoned but few who would come under such a rule, that there are exceptions to all rules, and there were both civil functionaries and army officers who might be pardoned with propriety. He said that he had not yet gone as far in his amnesty, either general or special, as Mr. Lincoln proposed. He explained, what is not generally known, that his pardons are mainly of business men many of whom were Union men, who must have pardons to enable them to sell or mortgage their lands or to get credit in their business operations, and added that he had not yet reached the consideration of such cases as Lee, Longstreet, Beauregard, and others of that class.

He spoke freely of the trial of Davis, and said that as yet the Government had not taken any step in the matter. If he is to be tried in Richmond, the trial must necessarily be postponed until the civil authority is fully restored, and then it will be a question of consideration under the condition of affairs which may at that time exist.

The President is clearly adverse to confiscation, and that question is practically settled. He will also wield all his power to effect the admission of the representatives of the Southern States into Congress during the next session.

The President, both by word and deed, disclaims the position of a partisan Executive, and he is not insensible to the flattering approval of the administration by the Democratic party.

Mr. McClure after the interview had closed, sums up his conclusions thus:

I feel warranted in saying that the President will adhere to the political fortunes of the Southern States without regard to political consequences. This may or may not sever him from the party that sustained and cherished him in the darkest days through which he passed, and that won him the highest honors of the nation through a flood of obloquy, but if it does, I infer that he will accept the situation. He evidently means, above all other things, to compass the admission of the Southern members and the complete restoration to power of those States.

Restoring by Proclamation.

The Washington correspondent of the New York News, asserts with positiveness, that the President will issue, about the last of this month, a proclamation officially announcing the end of "the Rebellion" so-called, and the restoration of the seceding States to their constitutional relations to the government.

We devoutly trust that this may be so, although we confess we are not very hopeful.

If the President has resolved to continue the great work he has begun to a thorough consummation, regardless of the passions or interests of party, no plan could be more efficient, inasmuch as it secures what, if we borrow an expression from the street, we may call the inside track from the malignants.

If the President thus officially announces to the American people, and to the world, the end of the war and the consequent return of the States to their former political position—an inference which we suppose to be unchallengeable—it will have the effect of throwing the responsibility of persistent disunion exclusively on Congress, and may have the further effect of influencing the minds of any of the Radicals who have a patriotic sentiment left, to pause before they follow their party leaders into the dangerous paths they are entering.

If Mr. Johnson desires to do a patriotic act, or to avoid a grave political and party embarrassment—and we are persuaded he desires both—no better opportunity or means will be afforded him. The war was begun by official proclamation: its end can only be officially ascertained the same way. The first resistance to the United States authority was thus commenced and thus ended. Washington issued a proclamation against the Pennsylvania rebels, which was the model of that launched by Mr. Lincoln against the originally seceded States. He announced the end of this whisky makers' and whisky dealers' revolt, in that super-eminently loyal State, in the same manner, and Mr. Johnson might well follow the precedent, and probably will.

This will have the effect of forcing Congress to choose between providing for the admission of the qualified representatives from the Southern States, and formally breaking with the Executive.

In so formal a battle between the President and the Congress, the legislative body will eventually—as has always been the case heretofore—yield. No Congress in the better days of the Republic was ever powerful enough or pure enough to stand a four years' war with the foundation of the political patronage of the nation. Of course, no one expects it now.

Should the President, therefore, take this step, the Southern delegates will present themselves at the Capitol with the official endorsement of the head of the government, that they are the representatives of constituent and equal States of the Republic, entitled to every privilege that attaches to similar representatives from any State. It will be impossible, therefore, to oppose their admission on any special ground without a violation of law so flagrant that even fanaticism may hesitate before its committal.—Nor. Virginian.

THE SEABOARD AND ROANOKE RAILROAD.—In order to show the present stagnation in business, which prevails in Portsmouth as well as in Norfolk to some extent, it may be interesting to state that this road, the only direct land connection Portsmouth has between herself and the interior country, brought to her doors during the fiscal year ending in 1865, eighteen thousand four hundred and twenty-one tons of produce. Among the products, were lumber, staves, bacon, flour, cotton, lard, corn, peas, tobacco and naval stores. The lumber in feet, was 2,726,000. The number of staves was 2,078,100. The pounds of bacon reached nearly 305,000. The flour brought from North Carolina, amounted to nearly 22,500 barrels. Nearly 30,000 bushels of corn and upwards of 30,000 bushels of peas. The tobacco, also from North Carolina, amounted to 18,000 boxes. Norfolk Virginian.

The Norfolk Immigration Scheme.

The friends of Immigration in Norfolk have organized a society with the following temporary officers:

General William Mahone, President. Directors—Colonel George Blow, Gilbert C. Walker, Kader Biggs, Samuel M. Wilson, James E. Barry, E. C. Lindsay, G. W. Camp, Warren W. Wing, E. C. Robinson, Colonel George Sangster, G. W. Grice, Marshall Parks, Henry Kimberly, Samuel R. Borum, John W. Hinton, James Y. Leigh.

The object of this society is to select, secure and transmit from Europe and elsewhere a skilled and efficient class of labor adequate to the present wants and necessities of the South, and more especially of the border States, to care for them while in transitu, to protect them against suffering, disease and imposition, and to supply them with houses and employment on their arrival in this country; to afford to the land owners of the South a reliable agency for the sale, lease and cultivation of their surplus lands, to aid and encourage settlers from other portions of the United States with their skill and capital; to furnish them with reliable information as to climate, soil and productions of all preferred locations, and to bring them in communication with the owners of the soil; to acquire and dispose of to small farmers such tracts of lands as their means may enable them to purchase and settle.

The organization shall be known as the Virginia and North Carolina Land, Emigration and Colonization Society, and shall be composed of a President, one Vice-President from each county in the States of Virginia and North Carolina, Treasurer, Corresponding and Permanent Secretaries, thirteen Directors, Surgeon and Superintendent of Hospitals, and such other agents as, in the opinion of the Board of Directors, may be necessary. The capital stock (so soon as charter can be secured) will be made up of ten thousand shares at $20 per share, or the total sum of two hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of increasing it to one million in shares of $20 each. A general meeting of the society shall be held on such day as may hereafter be prescribed by law, or as the stockholders may hereafter in general meeting direct, and at such place as shall be fixed from time to time by the Board of Directors, of which due notice shall be given. It may be held at any time at the call of the Board of Directors, or of stockholders holding one-tenth of the stock, upon their giving notice of the time and place of such meeting for ten days in the newspapers published in or near the place at which the last annual meeting was held.

To constitute a meeting of stockholders there shall be represented, in person or by proxy, a majority of all the votes which would be given by the stockholders. In failure of a sufficient number to attend at the time and place of meeting, those who do attend may adjourn from time to time until a meeting shall be regularly constituted. In a meeting of stockholders each stockholder may, by person or proxy, give the following vote, viz: one vote on each share.

That the Board of Directors shall be authorized and required to make such needful by-laws for the government and direction of the company as may be in their judgment conducive to its purpose and interest.

That the Directors be and are hereby instructed to apply to the Legislature of Virginia and North Carolina, for a charter in accordance with the objects of the society, at the earliest possible period, and also to prepare an address to the people of Virginia and North Carolina, urging a cheerful co-operation in this cause.

That as soon as the charter referred to in a preceding article shall have been secured, a meeting of the stockholders of the company shall be called by the Directors, for the permanent organization of the same, and election of officers in accordance with the provisions of the law.—Rich. Enquirer.

Plan for the Development of the Industrial Resources of the South.

A proposition is before us for the establishment of a joint stock company, with a capital of $5.000 000, to be used for the development of the industrial resources of the Southern States.—The scheme is ambitious, and though but imperfectly developed in the communication received, has in it the germs of a large, useful and powerful organization. The capital is to be raised in Baltimore and in Northern cities, which are large centres of trade. It is to be loaned to planters and landowners in the South, and to be secured by mortgages on property, the cash valuation of which is to be at least fifty per cent. over the amount advanced. For this the mortgager is to pay interest at the legal rate, but, in addition, he is to bind himself to consign the products of his estates to the agents of the company, at some specified point.

These agents are to be established in every principal market. They are to be merchants of character and capacity. They are to sell the produce received to the best advantage, and they are to purchase all material, agricultural implements and stock at cheapest rates, and they are to charge the lowest commissions. The company, in fact, is to become a huge factor, and, with its immense capital, is to compete with the commercial houses in every town on the seaboard, who are now straining every nerve to draw to themselves the business of the South. Its originators, however, are sanguine of success. They entertain the belief that capital can be turned over, at least ten times a year, and that if a commission of two and a half per cent. be earned, both on sales and purchases, a nett profit of fifty per cent will be paid to the stockholders, the interest received being more than sufficient to pay all expenses. Once firmly established, with a rapidly increasing capital, the wealth of the company is to be devoted to the developement of the resources of the Southern States, to the improvement of navigation and to furthering works of internal improvement. In a word, the association which, in the beginning, is to be devoted simply to trade, is, as it gains strength and power, to perform all the functions of a grand credit mobilier.—Baltimore Gazette, Nov. 24th.

Outrages in the Country.

Our attention has been called to a state of things prevailing in the country, and requiring the adoption of prompt measures for its correction.

We are told that some lawless persons, to our informants unknown, are continually committing outrages and depredations in the way of shooting into houses and robbing farms. Several cases have occurred in this county on the line to Onslow, and we fear that county is not free from them; neither is Brunswick or other counties, in this section, and the thing will be worse as the winter advances.

We understand that the matter has been represented to the military authorities, who are desirous that the people should organize patrols for the purpose of suppressing such evil doings. We are aware that an order of court has been made and issued for a similar purpose, and we have no doubt but that the people will find it their duty and interest to respond to the same, and thus shooting and marauding be soon put a stop to. Unless some such measures be promptly adopted, the thing will soon become insufferable.—Wil. Journal.

RESIGNATION OF MINISTER ADAMS.—The Tribune's Paris Correspondent says: The following paragraph appears in La France of this evening.

"Mr. Adams has made up his mind to resign the post of American Minister in London next spring.—He lately expressed his conviction that the question of the Alabama will be settled peaceably. He makes no doubt that some very warlike speeches will be delivered in Congress, but feels confident that Mr. Johnson's desire to keep on friendly terms with England will ultimately prevail.

Mrs. Maximilian, of Mexico, recently reviewed the Mexican troops in a carriage that cost $40.000. It was constructed of glass and silver, and the inside lined with white satin and gold lace.

From Savannah.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The steamer Constitution, from Savannah on the 23d instant, has arrived.

The Savannah Herald states that General Gillmore has obtained a pardon for the rebel General Elliott, who defended Fort Sumter against him.

An order is printed in the Herald cautioning the white children in Savannah to refrain from stoning and maltreating the children of freedmen.

Freedmen occupying lands which have been restored to former owners are also notified to remove before the 20th of December.

A mutiny occurred in the 5th regiment of colored troops at Jacksonville, Florida, in quelling which the Lieutenant Colonel was shot in the hand and several mutineers were wounded.

Eight roughs who lately arrived at Savannah among the laborers shipped from New York to work on the railroads, garroted a Mr. Cordes in his store, in Savannah, and robbed it.

The Georgia Methodist Conference is in session at Macon.

DIED,

In Perth Amboy, New Jersey, October 24, 1865, Mrs. FANNIE E. BOYKIN, wife of Thomas J. Boykin, M. D., of North Carolina.

Suddenly in this City on yesterday morning, Capt. ALFRED JONES, aged about 75 years. He was a highly respected citizen, and was for many years a Director in the Bank of the State. He had been in feeble health for years. He was in ordinary health when he arose yesterday morning, ate a hearty breakfast, walked up town from the residence of his relative, J. C. Palmer, Esq., went into a store and walked out into the back yard, and fell and expired in a short time. Truly, "in the midst of life we are in death."

His funeral will take place this morning from the residence of J. C. Palmer, at 9 o'clock. His friends and citizens generally are invited to attend.

Pioneer Line of Steamers

FOR

Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, via Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal.

THE COMMODIOUS STEAMERS PIONEER and Commodore Adams, will leave Newbern for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock A M, connecting with the different lines of steamers for the above-named points. On and after the first day of December next they will leave on Tuesday and Friday of each week, making semi-weekly trips. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay. Each of these steamers are capable of carrying through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with STATE ROOMS and BERTHS capable of accommodating thirty-five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without charge.

The tables of the steamers are liberally supplied with the best the market affords. Families travelling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route, and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 15th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the steamer Williams will be put on the route, and tri-weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to Whitford, Dill & Co., Newbern, N C.

at his old stand, where he will be happy to see them and sell them great bargains in his line. He would also call the attention of those of the Military Department wishing to purchase clothing, uniforms or citizens' dress, to the fact that they will find great bargains. In style and taste they cannot be surpassed by any in this city or any other. He deems it unnecessary to say any thing of his own skill in the Tailoring business, but it will suffice to say that his experience has not been for a few years only, but for the last 25 years. He therefore solicits a liberal patronage. Prompt attention will be given to persons wishing to have cutting done. Orders from a distance will be thankfully received and promptly attended to. Call at store No. 15 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

MRS. FENTRESS has opened a Boarding House next door, about 150 yards from the Capitol, where she will entertain members of the Legislature or transient Boarders.

T. R. FENTRESS, Merchant Tailor.

A new supply of goods has just been received and he will continue to receive them by every steamer that arrives.
